The most powerful impact stories you can share are those that feature someone who has benefited as a result of your organization receiving this grant. We understand this is not always possible due to privacy issues and personal preference, and in those cases, quotes or information demonstrating the impact could be collected from staff or volunteers. We may use your stories as part of our communications and marketing activities to promote the work of the CVCF and your organization.

Impact Story*

Impact stories help people understand the role of charitable work in our communities. Our role at CVCF is to direct funds to help organizations like you realize their mission. Since it's not always possible for us to be at the front line where community organizations make a difference, the next best thing is to do so by sharing stories. These stories help us raise the profile of the CVCF, of your organization and hopefully philanthropy across our region.
